TO PROSPECTIVE CLIENTS:

Rudd Construction under the project management of John Cloutier was responsible for executing restoration work on the Richards Hart Estate, Wheat Ridge, Colorado and Orchard House at Garden of the Gods, Colorado Springs, Colorado. Both projects which were designed by this office are National Register Historic Properties and are highly successful as restorations. Rudd Construction's competent craftsmen contributed in a major way to the success of these projects by consistently showing attention to detail and a determination and ability to solve difficult problems.

I can recommend Rudd Construction as a firm which is capable of executing this type of finely detailed home building and restoration projects.
